7.2 – Best Practices

7.2.1 – Describe at least two institutional best practices

1. Random Acts of Kindness Day , launched a calendar with acts of Kindness for each day of the month - The student teachers of the college realizing that there were hundreds who were less fortunate as to have a whole meal a day collected, prepared or contributed to the cause of helping the needy. This programme did not just collect some money to help a few needy but instead creates in the mind of each student an awareness to open eyes towards the needy, a hand to give and a heart to feel compassionate. The program is a never ending in the sense that it goes on as a ripple of social change and will percolate down to generations of students in the form of Random acts of Kindness. 2. Launch of G-Suit for Education, Google Classroom and other E-learning Tools As the saying goes When the going gets tough, the tough gets going. The nation is going through a very un favourable time where students are not able to come out to their institutions and continue their course of education. It is a dangerous phenomenon apart from the health issues it pose. The educational canvas of the nation suddenly becomes a mess. The college realized this danger immediately after the first phase of shut down in March 2019. The academic council met with minimum members at first and then with all members on virtual discussion rooms to consider the possibilities of switching over to onlines modes of teaching and evaluation. The IQAC came forward with the suggestion of starting of individual google classes and examination halls for all optional classes. This gives to the student a sense of belonging and avoid a lot of confusion switching over to the virtual platform. The college council reviewed the progress of classes on the Google classroom in April and discussed the advantages and shortcomings of the same. Later while planning for the next academic year went on to consider using the g-meet for interaction. The college had ever since continued close to regular classes online in keeping with the directions of the government.
